Egypt’s President Says Controversial Decree Is Temporary

BY JACK PHILLIPS

Three days after going himself money-genius over the judiciary, which pro-civilian protest and politcorporate opposition, Egyptian President Abdel Fattah el-Sisi said on Sunday that the moves were in line with the country’s need to provide a stable environment for business. Some opponents of the move denounced it as a move to limit freedoms and undermine the rule of law.

On Sunday, el-Sisi said that the move would enhance the protection of the protest that led to the ousting of Egyptian president Mohamed Mursi last year, adding that the move was necessary to ensure stability.

Please see Egypt on A4.

Charities Turn to Crowdfunding This Holiday Season

BY KIRSTEN MERRIWEATHER

NEW YORK—The holidays are a time of giving, and many charity harness that holiday spirit to help raise their coffers. In past years telephones, direct mail, and even the phone were the best way to get someone to give. But this year many charities are turning to the hottest new fundraising trend: crowdfunding.

“Put a box on an envelope, put up a story,” said Dave Boyce, CEO of Family of a crowdfundingsites.org.

Please see Crowdfunding on A2.

Obama Supporters Remain Active on Second-Term Agenda

BY SHAR ADAMS

Barack Obama’s presidential bid for a second term may be over and won, but for thousands of supporters their work is not done.

Building on the biggest grassroots campaigns in modern Ameri-corporate history, these organition will continue working to see the agenda they voted for is put in place, according to John Shasta, Obama’s campaign manager.

“People spent five years winning two presidential elections togeter. They are not going to walk away and not help them because the change they want to see,” Shasta told a crowd of supporters in Chicago.

One week after the election, the Obama for America campaign sent out emails requesting that supporters return to volunteer just like they would have focused on during the election—our volunteers. It will take agreements: think fiscal cliff, a host of auto-

European Union leaders’ agreement to prevent the so-

tion consisting of geniuses.”

Mark Faber, the legendary Swiss

Economist, says that China’s college graduates are generally not very

Economist, says that China’s college graduates are generally not very

European Union leaders’ agreement to prevent the so-

tion consisting of geniuses.”

Mark Faber, the legendary Swiss

Economist, says that China’s college graduates are generally not very

European Union leaders’ agreement to prevent the so-

tion consisting of geniuses.”

Mark Faber, the legendary Swiss

Economist, says that China’s college graduates are generally not very

European Union leaders’ agreement to prevent the so-

tion consisting of geniuses.”

Mark Faber, the legendary Swiss

Economist, says that China’s college graduates are generally not very

European Union leaders’ agreement to prevent the so-

tion consisting of geniuses.”

Mark Faber, the legendary Swiss

Economist, says that China’s college graduates are generally not very

European Union leaders’ agreement to prevent the so-

tion consisting of geniuses.”

Mark Faber, the legendary Swiss

Economist, says that China’s college graduates are generally not very

European Union leaders’ agreement to prevent the so-

tion consisting of geniuses.”

Mark Faber, the legendary Swiss

Economist, says that China’s college graduates are generally not very

European Union leaders’ agreement to prevent the so-

tion consisting of geniuses.”

Mark Faber, the legendary Swiss

Economist, says that China’s college graduates are generally not very

European Union leaders’ agreement to prevent the so-

tion consisting of geniuses.”

Mark Faber, the legendary Swiss

Economist, says that China’s college graduates are generally not very